It is desirable to structure the article in compliance with the specificity of the branch of science (pedagogy, linguistics, linguistic didactics). Please, do not use footnotes in the text. References to the original sources should be arranged in alphabetical order at the end of the article – beginning with the sources in Latvian, Lithuanian, German, English or French (in alphabetical order), then – in Russian. Only those sources, which have been quoted or referred to in the text, should be included in the list of references. Please separate the used sources and references.

In case a quotation or a reference is made, it should be formatted as follows: “Quotation” (Linke, Nussbaumer, Portmann 2001, 55) or paraphrase (Jordan, Plakans 2003). If there is a reference to several sources, do the following: paraphrase (Kristeva 1980; Simandan 2010).

Tables, charts, pictures and others should be presented in black-and-white (in case they are not designed by the author himself, a reference to the original source must be included); each table, chart and picture should be stored as a separate file in Microsoft

Windows 7 Excel or other newer version; tables, charts, pictures, also captions and legends should be modifiable. Indicate the exact location of each table, chart or picture, the title and/or caption as well as numeration in the text. Do not attach scanned schemes, diagrams or tables to the article.
